

• In the interest of continuous improvement, the builder reserves the right to modify the site plan and features without prior notice.